The MARYLAND GAZETTE.

[XIXth Year.] THURSDAY, June 30, 1763. [N°. 947.]

An Account of the Expedition against Manilla; and a Journal of the Siege; under the Command of Rear-Admiral Cornish, and Brigadier-General Draper. Communicated by Mr. Waters, Midshipman on board the Seahorse, a young Gentleman not 17 Years of Age.

September 23, 1762.

OUR whole Fleet arrived safe in Manilla Bay, except the South-Sea Castle Bomb, and Admiral Stevens's Storeship, which parted company before we made the Philippina Islands. We anchored so late in the evening, that no landing could be attempted that night; all that could be done was to send the Masters of the Squadron to sound in shore, to fix on a proper place for the descent, clear of rocks and shoals.

24th. This morning a Spanish officer was sent on board the Admiral, with orders to enquire the reason of our coming into their port, whether we had been driven in by distress or professed to come in a hostile manner to their impregnable city; informing the Admiral and General that the custom was, never to admit foreign ships into their port, without first having permission. The Spaniards knew nothing of the war, and might be unprepared for us; but instead of discovering any signs of fear, when the General told him the cause of our coming, he smiled, and said that the enterprize was rash, that he really believed their walls and ditch sufficiently protected them against our most vigorous efforts; but this resolute conduct the distress into which they fell, for it is very easy to imagine they might have put themselves into a much better posture of defence, and made it a dear purchase to us. The General being desirous to reconnoitre the ground as soon as the Spanish Officer was dismissed, upon which he was attended by the Admiral and other principal officers on board the frigates; we sailed close by Fort Cavite, till we came to a church called Malata, about one mile to the Southward of Manilla. This spot, from its situation, answered our purpose, the General determined it for the landing; in the dusk of the evening his Majesty's 79th regiment, with the marines and artillery, were landed, with two field pieces under the fire of the frigates, without meeting any opposition. This was no small point gained, and convinced us the enemy knew but little of the sciences of war, had they (as was expected) placed a field-piece or two on the beach, they must have killed a great number of our men.

25th. This morning the 79th regiment advanced up to a church called Hermita, within 600 yards of the fort, where the General established his head-quarters, at eleven o'clock Capt. Fletcher took possession of St. Jago church, which was an excellent place for the engineers to observe the enemy's works from its top. Upon our troops advancing, the enemy began a brisk fire, which continued all the remainder of the day; the General was resolved to defend this post, and so prevented the enemy from burning the village between us and the fort; thereby securing to our army good quarters, without which the siege could not be carried on in that rainy season, for the soil is a chalk marle, so that the natives support their houses six feet from the ground by posts.

26th. The enemy, sensible of their error in suffering us to take St. Jago church, advanced in the morning to the Bagumbay, a church 150 yards from the fort, to dislodge us from St. Jago, but were soon beat back. The enemy's dastardly behaviour induced the General to summon the Town; but the Archbishop replied, that the garrison was too strong of Europeans to be reduced, besides 15000 Indians. At Night began to play with two eight inch mortars.

27th. The Admiral landed 550 seamen, under the command of Captains Collins of the Weymouth, Pitchford of the America, and Quarry of the Panther.

28th. In the morning the Adm. sent the Governor's nephew ashore; he was taken in the Bay, on his passage to Manilla from the outward bound Galleon, arrived on the coast (which the Panther of 60, and the Argo of 30 Guns, were dispatched in quest of.) The General sent Lieutenant Fryer with a flag of truce to conduct him to the fort; but a body of furious Indians rushed out of the gate, and cut Mr. Fryer to pieces and mortally wounded the young gentleman. To-night the Engineers produced a masted blind along the ground, marked out for the battery, to screen our workmen in the day from the enemy.

29th. The Elizabeth of 50 guns, Commodore Tiddeman, and the Falmouth of 50, Capt. Brereton, ran as nigh to the fort as possible, and began cannonading. At night our men got two Royals up, and began with them, as well as the 8 inch mortars; the enemy returned several shells.

30th. The South-Sea Castle arrived, which made forces appear the more certain, as she had all the intrenching tools, and a reinforcement of Seapoys, and the Nabob's Topasses or Black Soldiers.

Oct. 1st. The wind coming to blow very hard, the South-Sea Castle drove on shore. This was not unlucky for our troops, as they were immediately landed, and the stores they were in great need of; otherwise the high surf would have prevented the boats from landing.

2d. Our engineers got the guns mounted for battering the bastion St. Diego.

3d. At day-break our batteries were opened against the bastion, and in five hours time ruined its defences, and dismounted several of their guns; four of our guns were kept employed all night, to prevent the enemy from repairing the breach.

4th. The Spaniards, judging they must soon be expelled by an assault, resolved their Indians should fall upon our troops in the dark. Accordingly, in the middle of the night, 6000 sallied out quietly, till they came to the fosses (which then they began shouting, and rushing about in such disorder, that they were presently forced to retire; regardless of the continual firing which was kept upon them, they continued their effort till day light, and then retreated in confusion. During the fray, a strong body of Spaniards forced our Seapoy guards of the Bagumbay fort; but a body of our men being sent to retake it, the enemy's loss in this affair was considerable. The Indians were so discouraged at this day's treatment, that several thousands of them returned to their respective homes.

5th. The breach being practicable, and all the defences ruined, the General gave the necessary orders for the assault, privately to the principal officers only, fearing that any public notice relating thereto, might be carried to the enemy by deserters or spies.

6th. At four this morning, the 79th regiment, with the Company's troops and the seamen, marched up to St. Jago's church. A little after day light, a volunteer party of forty men from the different corps, appointed for the forlorn hope, headed by Lieut. Ruffell of the 79th regiment, mounted the breach; and was in possession of the bastion before the enemy had time, after the alarm, to assemble the garrison. The General immediately followed with the rest of the troops, whose presence had so good an effect, that it fired the men with bravery. The Spaniards flew to their churches and houses, whence a tolerable resistance was made for some time: Many, to avoid the fury of the conquerors, jumped into the river, and about 400 were drowned. The Governor and principal officers flew to the citadel, but soon surrendered prisoners at discretion. A party of our marines took possession also of Cavite; one hundred refusing to surrender at the Royal Gate, were put to the sword.

A List of the Number of Men landed, killed and wounded at the Siege of Manilla.

In another Account of this great Acquisition, relating the Transactions after the Life of Officer, published in the London Gazette, is the following. "About 3 Hours before Day 1000 "of the Indians attacked the Cantonment of the Seamen. "They were encouraged to this Attempt by the inceffant "Rains, in which they flattered themselves our Fire Arms "would be useless. Their Approach was favoured by a "great Number of thick Bushes that grew upon the Side of "a Rivulet, which they paffed in the Night, and, by keeping "close, eluded the Vigilance of the Patroles. Upon the "Alarm Col. Monfon, and Capt. Fletcher, with the Pi-"quets, were dispatched to the Affistance of the Seamen, "who very sensibly kept firm in their Posts, and were contented to repulse them, till Day-break, when a fresh Pi-"quet of the 79th Regiment appearing upon the Indians "right Flank, they fled, were purfued and dispersed with "the Loss of 300 Men. Had their Skill or Weapons been "equal to their Strength and Ferocity, it might have cost us "dear. Although armed chiefly with Bows, Arrows, and "Lances, they advanced up to the very Muzzles of our "Pieces, repeated their Affaults, and died like wild Beasts, "gnawing the Bayonets."

BERLIN, April 5.

IT is hardly possible to express the joy with which the Inhabitants of this City received their Sovereign, who arrived here the 30th of last Month, in perfect Health. They pierced the Air with repeated Acclamations of, LONG LIVE OUR KING AND FATHER! To which his Majesty most affectionately vouchsafed to Answer, LONG LIVE MY DEAREST SUBJECTS, MY BELOVED CHILDREN! In this Manner he was ushered to the Palace, where he supped with the Queen, and all the Royal Family. The next Day he received the Compliments of the Nobility, foreign Ministers, &c. and dined with Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick, who arrived here from Magdeburg the Day before his Majesty. In the Afternoon his Majesty, accompanied by that Prince, went to visit the Princes and Princesses, his Brothers and Sisters. The greatest Rejoicings have continued ever since, and last Night the whole City was magnificently illuminated.

LONDON, April 23.

The Augusta Yacht is fitting out with all possible Expedition, and will sail in a few Days for Holland, in order to convey over the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick, to espouse a young Princess, who is justly distinguished by the Character of Prudence, who is justly distinguished by the Character of Prudence, one of the most amiable young Ladies in all the World.

On Saturday Afternoon last a Body of Soldiers assembled at Tower-Hill and Marching behind that several Thieves and Pick-pockets, who had disguised themselves in Sailors Habits, they thought proper, and dispersed themselves to discover whether any of those of the following Expedition to discover whether any of those of the following Expedition to discover whether any of those Sailors, and them to a Pond, each Man threw them a Dozen Lashes a-piece, they were soon about their Business.

Extract of a Letter from Gibraltar, March 30.

The first Lieutenant of the 58 gave out a few Days ago to Mess Gallo, but we cannot hitherto hear, the Purser laughed at him, and told him he was but a bad Marksman. The Lieutenant, and told him he was but a bad Marksman. The Lieutenant, he could shoot as well as any Person in the Garrison, he could shoot as well as any Person in the Garrison, accordingly, he and the Purser repaired to the Spanish Lines. The Purser replied, I'll hand you Half a Guinea that you don't hit me with a Single Ball at the Distance of 40 Yards: Done, says the Lieutenant, and let us immediately Yards: Done, says the Lieutenant, and let us immediately go about it. Accordingly they had some Spirits to the go about it. Accordingly they had some Spirits to the Dock-yard, and the Lieut. measured out the Ground; and there being a Wooden Horse for the Support of the Cables, he rested his Piece on it and aimed at the Purser at the Dock-gate. The Centinel asked him what he was going about? He answered, Only to shoot an old Purser, that is weary of his Life. He then called to the Purser (while Hand fasting him) to know if he was ready? who answered, he was; we walked he forth, and the Ball tore the Purser's Coat and Leg, in a terrible a Manner, that the Surgeon was obliged to cut off his Leg immediately. A Mortification enfued, and the old Man next Day gave up the Ghost. The Lieutenant yielded up himself a Prisoner directly, and Yesterday he was Tried and found Guilty; but his Sentence is referred till his Majesty's Pleasure is known.—He said but little in his Trial; His own Captain and several others, gave him a very good Character.

Letters from France advise, that the King of Spain will not be any great Loser by our taking the Manillas, as the Whole of that Trade was in the Hands of the Jesuits. A Proposal was made to the late King of Spain to put a Stop to that Trade, it being a Loss to the King and the Spanish Nation; but the Jesuits had Art enough to prevent its taking Effect.

A Squadron of Ships of War is getting ready to sail for the Mediterranean, with the several Officers appointed to command in the Island of Minorca, and with the Squadron many Transports will sail, laden with great Quantities of warlike Stores and Provisions, but we do not hear of any Troops going there from England or Ireland.

A Number of People, by Royal Bounty, will very shortly embark for America, to settle there with their Families.

The last Letters from Spain bring Advice, that some Ships with Troops on board, were sailed for the Havannah.

A Letter from Paris, dated April 18, says, "An infinite Numbers of young People are under Engagement to embark from Brest, in the Course of next Month, for the new discovered Island in the Red-Indies."

Several Transports are ordered round to Plymouth, to take three Regiments on board, that are ordered to Gibraltar, to relieve Part of the Garrison of that Place.

It is said the Militia is to be kept on the present Establishment for three Years; each County to keep up its Compliment of Men, who are to be mustered and instructed in the Military Exercise 28 Days in each Year, which are to be appointed by the Officers.

Yesterday Morning a Gentleman, walking by the Serpentine River in Hyde-Park, was crossed two or three times by a well-looking young Man, who at last made a full Stop before him, and bid him stand. The Gentleman upon this demanded what he wanted; to which the poor Man, bursting out into Tears, answered, I want to rob you, but can't. The Gentleman's Humanity was struck at so great an Instance of Sensibility, and assuring the Man he might be under no Apprehension, enquired into the Motives which induced him to take so dangerous a Course; when it appeared that the poor young Fellow had been a Midshipman on board a Man of War, but that his Ship being paid off, he was out of all Manner of Employment, and reduced to the utmost Distress, having an infirm Mother to support, besides a Wife and two Children. The Gentleman was so much affected at his Story, that he gave him two Guineas, and dismissed him, with some cordial Advice upon the proper Methods to pursue, which the other seemed to receive with the most lively Marks of Gratitude and Satisfaction.

Part of the Troops now in Portugal will be draughted off for Minorca, in order to garrison that Fortress.

It is now said that the Treasure, &c. taken at the Manillas, is not so great as at first reported.

It is said that 18 Boxes of Silver, which the Jesuits were sending out of France, have been seized.

A Treaty of Commerce between the Courts of Versailles, Madrid, and London, is talked of, by which great Advantages will accrue to the three Nations.

A Treaty of Marriage is on Foot between the Archduke Peter Leopold of Austria, aged 15, and the Princess Maria Beatrix, Daughter of the Hereditary Prince of Modena aged Fourteen.

Great Insurances have been making for some Days past on a very rich Ship coming from the South-Seas, on which they give 25 Guineas per Cent.

His Prussian Majesty has directed the Pictures of all the great Officers who fell during the late War, to be painted by the best Masters in Germany, in order to adorn a new Room at Potsdam, which is to be called, The Hall of Heroes.

Not a Day or Night passes without Robberies, both Streets of Rogues has the Peace let loose upon us, which are daily increasing, as the Ships are paid off.

May 3. On Saturday last, John Wilkes, Esq; Member of Parliament for Aylesbury, was taken into Custody, by one of his Majesty's Messengers, and committed Prisoner to the Tower, by the Secretaries of State; being charged with writing a Paper published in the North Briton of Saturday the 23d of April last. The same Afternoon a Motion was made before the Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, Westminster-Hall, for a Habeas Corpus to remove him from Confinement, that he might answer to the said Charge in Court. Accordingly this Morning, about Half past Ten o'Clock, he was brought in a Coach from the Tower of London, attended by the Deputy Constable, and other Officers over London Bridge, and St. George's Fields, to the Court of Common Pleas, Westminster-Hall (which was made crowded on the Occasion) in order that he might be admitted to Bail, which he refused, pleading by his Counsel, Mr. Sergeant Glynn, for his Discharge. The Point in Debate, arising from Eleven o'Clock till a Quarter past Two, was concerning the Validity of said Commitment; after several learned Arguments, it was postponed till Friday Morning next, and Mr. Wilkes was remanded back again to the Tower; his Friends, in the mean Time, use all legal Means

Access to him. Mr. Wilkes himself spoke much on the Occasion.

We are informed, that upon a certain Gentleman's Arrival at the Tower, he told the Lieutenant he had a particular Favour to ask him; which the latter politely assured him he might command, if consistent with his Office. He then requested he might be lodged in a Room which had never yet been inhabited by a SCOTCH REBEL. The Lieutenant replied, he feared he had made a Request out of his Power to gratify.

Cork, March 24. Saturday last one of the People called Levellers or Whiteboys (who was concerned with about 20 others in carrying off William Howay, from the House of his Master, John Willington of the County of Tipperary, Esq; and in barbarously cutting his Tongue and Chin, with a Knife, on the 28th Day of February last) was capitally convicted at the Assizes of Clonmell, and received Sentence of Death, to be executed within two Days.

Gloucester, April 11. On Saturday last the following Address was presented to Charles Barrow, Esq; one of our Representatives in Parliament, by Deputation from a public Meeting of a large Number of his Constituents, who drew up and signed the same at the Boothall in this City.

"SIR,

"Alarmed at the late fatal Blow to Liberty, we, a considerable Part of the Body of Freemen of this City, animated by a lively Sense of Gratitude on your Arrival here, have publicly assembled to manifest our high Esteem of, and to take this, the earliest Opportunity, unanimously to return our sincerest Thanks, for your upright Conduct in Parliament, on all Occasions; but more especially for that last Instance of your watchful Care over our Liberties, by your steady and vigorous Opposition to a late Bill for laying an additional Duty on Cyder and Perry, by Way of Excise; any Extension of which having ever been deemed dangerous to the Liberties of a free People.

"However ineffectual those your utmost and best Endeavours may have proved, yet nevertheless you are equally entitled to our warmest and most grateful Acknowledgments; and will, we are perswaded, always be remembered by us and others our Fellow-Citizens, with the most affectionate and unfeigned Gratitude."

LONDON, April 28. The Indictment against Mr. Rice, the Broker, for Forgery, was laid for only 500*l. though he had transferred of the Lady's Stock* 19,900*l. Mr. Fennoulet, one of the Clerks of the South Sea-house, was the first Witness called, who proved the filling up the Letter of Attorney. Mr. Lovell, another Clerk of the South Sea-house, proved the filling up the Transfer, [on Rice accepts it, and swore that he witnessed the same. Mr. Ball the Supervisor, proved the Letter of Attorney passing the Committee. Mr. Montague, the Deputy Accomptant, acquainted the Court of the Stock being replaced to Mrs. Pierce, after the above fraudulent Transfer. Mrs. Pierce was then called, who being shewn the Letter of Attorney, owned it being her Hand writing, and depied she never gave him any such Power. No other Witness was called on Behalf of the Prosecution. The Court then acquainted Mr. Rice it was his Time to make his Defence, who answered he had nothing to say, but desired some Gentlemen might be called to his Character, two of which were sworn, who spoke of him as a Person of Credit in his Profession. The Court acquainted him, where Proofs were positive, Character would have little Weight, so no more were called. Mr. Rice then urged, that he had been offered Protection at Canterbury, if he would have changed his Religion. He was dressed in a Suit of light Grey, trimm'd with Black, and had a Bag Wig on; he was indulg'd with being at the Inner Bar, and was allowed a Chair; seemed much affected, and shed Tears most Part of the Trial.*

About Five in the Evening he was again brought up to the Bar, with the other Prisoners, to receive Sentence of Death, which was passed upon them, in a most pathetic and moving Manner, by the new Recorder. The Court was not full, owing to the Demand for the Galleries being One Guinea for Front, and Half a Guinea for back Seats.

April 29. Mr. Rice the Broker is not confined to the Cells of Newgate, but is favoured with an Apartment on the Master's Side.

Yesterday Mrs. Rice presented a Petition to his Majesty, in Behalf of her Husband, now under Sentence of Death in Newgate; on Delivery of which she was overcome with Grief, that she fainted away.

There is something singular in the Fate of John Turner, a Convict, under Sentence of Death in Newgate; he stole a Silver Tankard on Monday last, was taken on the Tuesday, sent to Newgate on the Wednesday, capitally convicted on the Thursday, and received Sentence of Death at the Old-Bailey on Friday.

April 21. There were found at the Manillas, among many other Curiosities, and brought here by Col. Draper, eight Copper Plates, on which are engraved a most particular Map of the Philippine Islands adorned with the Customs and Habits of the Inhabitants of those Parts, which was done by Order of the Governor, and dedicated to his most Catholick Majesty.

We are informed that Mr. Rice is very ill in his Room, in Newgate, and that not any one Acquaintance is permitted to see him.

BOSTON, June 9.

A most shocking Murder was committed last Saturday at Taunton, by a Negro Fellow belonging to Dr. M'Kinstry;—a Sister of the Doctor's getting up early in the Morning to iron Clothes, the Negro (after making a Fire) got his Master's Horse, and left him at the Door, and finding an Opportunity took up a hot Flat-iron, with which he struck the Woman on the Back of her Head, and stunned her, he repeated the Blow, then dragged her down into the Cellar, and there with an old Ax struck her several Times; he then took the hot Iron, and rubbed over her Face, sticking the Point of it into her Eyes, whereby she was scorched considerably; after he had done this, he took the Horse and rode off.—The Family soon got up and found the Woman in the above Condition; she continued till the Evening of the next Day, and then died. The Negro was pursued, and taken up at Newport, and confessed the Fact.—What induced the Fellow to perpetrate this Crime is not known, as he was always treated well, and there had been no Difference with him in the Family.

NEW-PORT, June 6.

The Brig Royal Charlotte, Capt. Taylor, arrived here last Thursday from Annamaboe, on the Coast of Africa, after a Passage of 110 Days; by whom we have the affecting Intelligence of the the tragical Death of Capt. George Frost, and Mr. William Grant, his Mate, both of this Town, which was perpetrated by the Slaves on board his Sloop, as she lay at Anchor in the River Gaboone, in the Month of November last. Capt. Frost having Occasion either for some Wood or Water, sent two of his Men and a Negro on Shore for that Purpose, himself, the Mate, and a Negro, who belonged to the Vessel, remaining on board; and in the Mens Absence he unfortunately permitted the Slaves, to the Number of about 60, to come upon Deck, who immediately seized him, with the Negro Man, and threw them overboard. Mr. Grant at this Time lay sick in his Cabbin, unable to rise. Capt. Frost swam up to the Vessel, in order to get on board again; upon which the Slaves threw a Lance at him, which penetrated his Body, where it remained, and with which he attempted to gain the Shore, but after swimming about Half the Way, he sunk, and was seen no more. The Negro, who was thrown over with him, had the good Fortune to get safe ashore.

The Slaves having now the Command of the Vessel, they brought the Small Arms, with several Barrels of Powder, upon Deck; and on some Blacks coming off in Canoes to retake the Vessel, the Slaves on board began firing with their Small Arms, but through Ignorance soon set the Powder on Fire, and in the Explosion about 30 of them were destroyed. The Sloop was retaken 3 Days afterwards, when the most affecting Part of this Affair was disclosed; for on entering the Cabbin, the Corps of Mr. Grant was immediately discovered, with his Throat cut in a very shocking Manner, which was supposed to have been done as soon as Capt. Frost and the Negro were thrown over.

A short Time before Capt. Taylor sailed, he heard that the Slaves on board a Sloop belonging to Liverpool, rose upon the People, wounded the Mate, and got Possession of the Vessel, which afterwards ran ashore and beat to Pieces.

NEW-YORK, June 16.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated April 30.

"This Day Mr. Wilkes Member of Parliament for Aylesbury, Writer of the North Briton, is sent to the Tower, by Warrant, for treasonable Practices (In other Words, for libelling the Government): In the said North Briton the King's Speech is attacked and treated with unreserved Freedom; and the Warrant sets forth that he has endeavoured to sow Sedition, and alienate the Affections of his Majesty's Subjects.

"It will make a terrible Noise, and no Doubt the City will be all on Fire upon the Occasion; Lord Chief Justice Pratt has granted a Habeas Corpus, and Mr. Wilkes is to be brought, on Monday, to get Bail, if he can obtain it. He refused to apply to Lord Chief Justice Mansfield, as being a Scotchman. I do not imagine that ever Party Spirit carried People to greater Excesses, or was more violently agitated. It is probable Mr. Wilkes will remain in the Tower till the Parliament meets. The Duke of Bedford set out on his Return for France Yesterday."

June 20. One or two Expresses have arrived here since our last from Albany, with Intelligence, it is said, of the Outrages of the Indians on our Out Posts and Back Settlements. And a Gentleman who left Albany last Thursday, informs, that the Evening before, a Man arrived there, who had been wounded by the Indians at a Place called Green Bay [we suppose near Fort Detroit] which he said was entirely destroyed; and that Fort Detroit must have been taken by the Time of his Arrival. He further added, that the Indians had taken nine Batteaus, and killed and scalped three Men; and that there were many others missing, particularly Forty of the Queen's Independents, supposed to be cut off.

Several Companies of the Artillery Men embarked Yesterday, said to be ordered Upwards, to reinforce the Garrisons.

A Letter from Albany, dated the 15th Instant, says, "I am sorry to inform you of the bad Success of our Indian Traders: The French Indians have cut off all the Posts and Batteaus between Niagara and Detroit, and it is generally believed that Detroit is cut off also.—I am doubtful of the Consequence.—We have an Account of one Evert Wendell being killed, and John Wendell mortally wounded; they were attacked 40 Miles above Niagara, having 9 Batteaus, and 35 Men, out of which Number only 11 are returned to Niagara; they were attacked the 3d Instant. Lieut. Cuyler, with 100 Men, was attacked the 28th ult. within 50 Miles of Detroit, and has only brought to Niagara 30 of that Number."

WHEREAS the Subscriber hath lately begun to work a new Forge for making Pig-Iron at the upper End of Hunting Falls, on Patapsco River Side, to be carried by a Spring, commonly called Elk Branch, making into the said River, on the Virginia Side, which said Work he intends to get in Blast by the middle of Sept. next; and it being necessary to have chief Part of the Pig-Iron Mineral manufactured into Bars, with the Casting of Pots, Stoves, Ovens, &c. he is under to ask the Expence of Land Carriage, that there be a greater Quantity made than can be dispatched in the back Parts of the Country: And as he hath already been at a great Expence in purchasing Lands, Ore, &c. on both Sides of the said River Patapsco, as the promising to him a convenient Place for other of Forges, Mills, &c. which happens at the Beginning of the said Falls, and opposite the said Furnace; but some Persons being apprehensive that the Navigation of the said River would be prejudiced by such Forges, &c. he built at the Place aforesaid, he doth hereby give this public Notice, that it is his request and desire that two or three Gentlemen, acquainted with Affairs of that Nature, should come and view the said Falls, particularly the Place where the Works are by him erected, and he doubts not the least Doubt but they will be immediately convinced that what he Designs to do at the before-mentioned Place will be so far from prejudicing the Navigation that it will greatly contribute to assist it, as at present the Water being confined within narrow Limits, and having a considerable Fall, with a rocky uneven Bottom, it is rendered equally impassable either in dry Seasons or Freshes. The Subscriber therefore hopes in a little Time to satisfy the Persons whom it may concern that he has not the least View or Intention to prejudice the passing of Craft up and down the said River, but it is thought practicable, on the raising a Sum of Money to open the same from the Great Falls to Wilk's Creek; but would gladly assist in every thing reasonable thereto, as soon as the same shall be taken into Consideration.

He hereby also informs the Public that at these are many convenient Places for erecting of Iron Works, Merchant Mills, and Saw Mills, belonging to Gentlemen unacquainted with the Nature of such Works, the Situation suitable as to Water, Wood and Ore, as well as in the Expences attending such Buildings: For the better Encouragement of those Improvements and more Satisfaction to Gentlemen that have such Contrivances, the Subscriber will, at any Time when desired, wait upon any Person that would erect all, or any of the said Works, being well acquainted in every Branch of the same; and would also give a particular Estimate of the Expences in Building, and likewise the Profits which accrue from either Furnace, Forge, Merchant Mill, or Saw Mill, for a reasonable Consideration; and would undertake the whole Building at his own Expence, if they should choose it, rather than do it themselves; being well acquainted with the Art of Workmen, and long Experience in those particular Branches of Business, with the Building of Strong Dams, and erecting any Sluices of Water whatever, which he will warrant to stand good as a reasonable Price: He may be spared also Time in the blowing of Sluices above or under Water, a specimen of which may be seen at the Falls of Susquehanna, in Harford County, where all these Works, as above, are now well completed, by

Your humble Servant,
JOHN ROGERS.
